WELCOME TO IOWA!

We are pleased that you are here. Whether you are one of more than 3 million people who call Iowa home or are simply checking out the many recreational or business opportunities our state has to offer, we trust you will not be disappointed. Once you've entered our borders, we're convinced you'll find everything you're looking for.

Iowa's east and west borders feature two beautiful rivers, the Missouri and the Mississippi, with a bevy of amazing land in between. Travel from southeast Iowa in Lee County to find the lowest elevation of 680 feet above sea level along the Mississippi River.

Beyond our beauty and recreation, Iowa plays an essential role economically. Our state's agriculture feeds the world. Iowa is known as a leader in pork, eggs, soybeans, and more. Our knack for using natural resources in innovative ways is visible with 3,200 wind turbines dotting our skyline and generating more than 25 percent of the state's electric power.

So whether you have come to Iowa to set down roots or just to explore, we invite you to enjoy the state by vehicle, bicycle, or on foot. With surprises around every corner, there truly is something for everyone in Iowa.
